

I am against further relaxation of rules governing ownership of media outlets. Allowing a small number of large corporations to own the limited number of public media outlets will decrease the diversity of opinions, reporting, and interests served. I strongly urge you to uphold rules limiting ownership of media outlets so that these venues can serve the interests of the public rather than the interests of big business.